

Jervis Bay Diving Adventure

with the seals

With Jean Paul de Ronserail

October 24th – 25th 2009

Escape Sydney and join us for some fun diving with the Seals in Jervis Bay. Approximately a 2 ½ hour easy drive down the coast.

Diving Agenda: We have planned a double boat dive on Saturday diving with the Seals and two shore dives on Sunday at Jervis Bay. We also offer an optional double boat dive on Sunday for those who prefer to do boat dives rather than the two shore dives planned.

Our Divemaster Jean Paul will be leading the weekend's activities. With his diving experience and love of a good time, you can be sure of an enjoyable weekend.

Seal Colony: During Winter the Seals migrate to a site South of St Georges Headland. Diving with seal's is one of the most thrilling underwater experiences imaginable. All seal's want to do is play with you. If you don't want to play with them, they will find someone or something else to play with.

Marine Life: Jervis Bay is a mecca for divers wanting to see the best of temperate water diving. Be prepared to encounter unique creatures such as Red Indianfish, giant cuttles, Port Jackson Sharks, weedy sea dragons, sea horses and a great variety of unique fish species.

Accommodation: We will be staying in the Jervis Bay Divers Lodge, an easy 10 minute drive to the dive shop, cafes, restaurants and shopping in Huskisson and walking distance to St Georges Basin Country Club and local shops. The facilities include comfortable bunk style share accommodation in a large three-bedroom house on the foreshores of St Georges Basin. Each room sleeps between 4-5 people, two of these rooms include a double bed. There are full kitchen facilities, TV, DVD/Music facilities and an undercover BBQ area. Gear washing facilities and secure drying room are also provided for your dive equipment.

Cost: $225 Dive Club Members $240 Non Members

Optional Double Boat Dive on Sunday: Add $120 (includes 2nd tank)
